

TimeOut

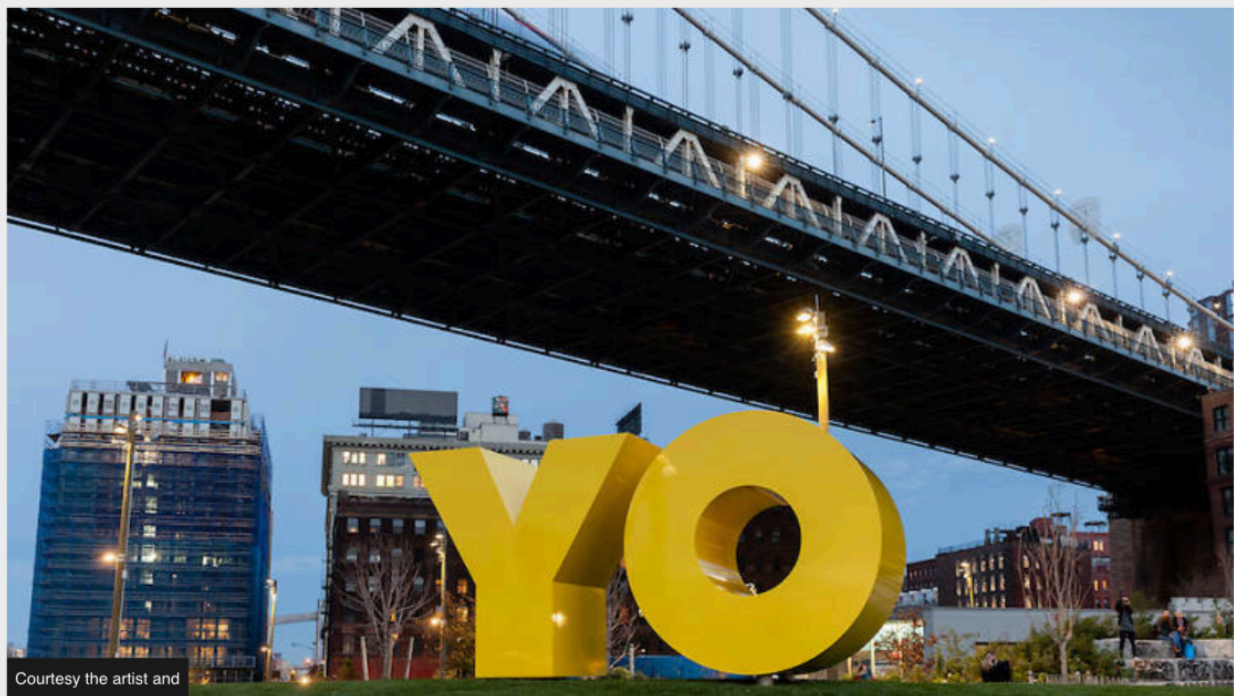

NEW YORK

“Something To Say”

Art, Contemporary art

 Brooklyn Museum Shop, Prospect Park

 Until Friday September 13 2019

For the next year, a group of text-based outdoor sculptures will be taking up residence in front of the Brooklyn's Museum main entrance as part of the institution's "role as a civic space for conversation and shared learning." Brooklyn Hi-Art! Machine, Kameelah Janan Rasheed and Hank Willis Thomas are among the contributors, and so, too, is Deborah Kass, whose monumental sculpture OY/YO will be making its third public appearance after extended stays in Brooklyn Bridge Park and North Fifth Street Pier Park in Williamsburg.

Find article at: <https://www.timeout.com/newyork/art/something-to-say>